Notes (If you would like to add/explain anything): High Risk Zone: Correspond to these areas that due to its physical conditions are not suitable to be developed, by reason of the innminent risks to its users. All the structures located in these areas should be relocated.

Bien Baldío: According to Colombian legislation, a "Bien baldío" is a real estate lot property of the Nation and located in rural areas that, as a general rule, should be awarded to those who occupy it and comply with the requirements established by the law of agrarian reform.

Bono dayuda mutua: Used for the first time in 1984 in the "Moravia" project, it consists of a ticket that certifies the fulfillment of the days of work done by the families to access a public deed. The families must add a certain number of "Bonos de ayuda mutua", depending on the area land they occupy within the implementation zone established in the negotiations.
